Lynn C. Maddox was appointed to the Foundation Board of Directors of Beta Theta Fraternity in 2005 and again in 2007. Maddox is a retired Senior Vice President and Principal of Atlantic Trust/Stein Roe Investment Counsel. He served as a professional investment advisor for 34 years, and he was responsible for the management of portfolios for retirement funds, endowments, charitable funds and individuals. He served as a member of the firm's Investment Policy Committee, Income/Convertible Strategy Committee and chaired the Trading Department Oversight Committee.

Prior to joining Stein Roe, Maddox served as a plant manager with Procter & Gamble and as assistant director of the Indiana University Business Placement Office. Previously, he served as a first lieutenant and as an instructor at Redstone Arsenal, teaching confidential guided missile electronics to foreign officers.

Maddox earned a Bachelor of Science degree from the Georgia Institute of Technology and a Master of Business Administration degree from Indiana University. He also holds the Chartered Investment Counselor (CIC) designation and is a member of the CFA Institute and the Investment Analysts Society of Chicago.

As an undergraduate, he served as managing editor of the Georgia Tech Engineer and was a member of Eta Kappa Nu, the engineering honorary society. In 2002, he was honored by Georgia Tech as a "Distinguished Engineering Alumnus."
